Great thinkers are great gamblers. They constantly make bets and use probabilities. Let's talk about why this habit makes a massive difference.

1. Learn the basics and learn them early (credit, budgeting, etc.)
2. Make your money work while you sleep (invest)
3. Create your own financial opportunities and own them
4. Help others on the journey, pay it forward
5. You need a lot less than you think to have a good life

My journey into financial literacy also helped me with everything else in my life. When people ask me about it, I always point to the same thing. The 5 principles I put together to make sure I always come out ahead.

I still live by these to this day.
